COURTS TO PASS ON TAX LEGALITY

It is clearly clear that the Reed company will do the same thing that is done by every other company that sells gasoline in Georgia.

"We have not decided what course to pursue but the probability is that the first step to be taken by the gasoline companies will be to submit the new law to the tests of the courts and see whether or not it is legal."

"We have the matter now under consideration and decision will be made in a few days."

Levy of New Tax. The new tax bill levies a tax of 50¢ on every truck and tank wagon carrying gasoline and oil—this in addition to our usual business tax, both city and federal.

"If the extra one cent a gallon tax is legal it will, of course, be paid by the consumer, and this will automatically raise the price of gasoline one cent a gallon."

"Before our customers are charged this increase, however, we must first ascertain whether or not this tax is legal."

Governor Hadwick said it is the plan of the bill to place the tax on gasoline at its source. The tax will be collected from the dealer who imports the oil in bulk. After the oil once arrives in Georgia and the one cent tax is imposed no other tax will be imposed no matter how many times the gasoline is thereafter sold by dealers.

Happy Since Killing Man Who Spurned Her Love

Miss Olivia M. P. Stone, photographed on way to jail, and Ellis Guy Kinkead.

New York, August 10.—"I don't regret it at all. I'm the happiest woman in the world."

In these words Miss Olivia M. P. Stone, Cincinnati nurse, still continues to express her satisfaction over the killing of Ellis Guy Kinkead, lawyer whom she asserts was formerly her common law husband, and who died after she had fired five shots into his body last Friday night.

Mrs. Kinkead, widow of the slain man, told reporters that the alleged relations with Mr. Kinkead were not the first time Miss Stone had had trouble with men.

"About ten or eleven years ago," she said, "the Covington, Ky., and Cincinnati newspapers had long accounts of an affair she had with a wealthy Cincinnati business man. He was a married man and she was called in to take care of him. The Stone woman accompanied him on a trip to Europe and on the way over there was trouble on the ship which the captain had to settle. Miss Stone later preferred charges against the man, but the matter was settled out of court."

"When she says she sued my husband for divorce she tells of an occasion when the whole matter was threshed out in court and she was told that she had no legal standing."

Mrs. Kinkead said Miss Stone frequently wrote letters to her husband demanding money and that they came to New York in the hope of losing her. "Mr. Kinkead," she added, "had just arranged to set up offices in the Vanderbilt building, Monday. I am sure, though, he had a feeling she was here after him."

"This Stone woman is almost illiterate," she continued. "She is not from Covington or Louisville, as she has claimed, but from the mountains of Tennessee, and she has all the fiery characteristics of the people of that section. I believe she is mentally unbalanced."

Neighbors of the Kinkeads stated that three months ago Miss Stone threatened to kill both Mr. and Mrs. Kinkead and that the lawyer had difficulty in getting the nurse out of the house.

Records in the New York county clerk's office show Miss Stone started a suit for divorce from Mr. Kinkead on June 5 last, naming Mrs. Kinkead respondent, alleging she was the lawyer's common law wife.

The nurse asked for alimony pending trial, but Justice Whitaker denied her claim. Mr. Kinkead stated in his answer to the nurse's complaint that he was "unconscious and delirious" while in the care of Stone and that his mental condition was such that he had but a vague idea of what had happened.

Neighbors of the Kinkeads stated that three months ago Miss Stone threatened to kill both Mr. and Mrs. Kinkead and that the lawyer had difficulty in getting the nurse out of the house.

Among those who argued the case for the railroads was F. J. Robinson, general passenger agent, Central of Georgia railroad; H. P. Carey, general passenger agent, Southern railroad; W. J. Craig, passenger traffic agent, Atlantic Coast Line; W. L. Lightfoot, general passenger agent, Seaboard Air Line, and Milton Smith, Jr., assistant general agent, Louisville and Nashville railroad.

The order of the commission in reference to the Sunday operation of freight trains is as follows:

ORDERED: That the several orders of this commission heretofore passed under authority of the act of the general assembly approved August 20, 1917, suspending the operation of section 418, 419 and 416 of the penal code of Georgia prohibiting the operation of freight trains on the Sabbath, upon and as to the following railroads:

Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, Atlantic Coast Line railroad, Atlanta and West Point railroad, Central of Georgia railroad, Flint River and Northeastern railroad, Georgia Northern railroad, Georgia railroad, Georgia and Florida railroad, Georgia, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, Florida and Alabama railroad, Gainesville Midland railroad, Louisville and Nashville railroad, Louisville and Wadley railroad, Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, Ocala Southern railroad, Savannah and Atlanta railroad, Southern railroad, Wadley Central railroad, Seaboard Air Line railroad, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia railroad, Waycross and Southern railroad, Wadley Southern railroad, Wrightsville and Tennessee railroad, Western and Atlantic railroad.

And the same are each and all revised on and after 12 o'clock noon, August 31, 1921.

DISARMAMENT PLANS REACH FORMAL STAGE

Washington, August 10.—Diplomatic negotiations preliminary to the disarmament conference reached the formal stage for the first time today when the state department drafted notes of invitation to the first of the nations that are to be asked to participate.

Although officials declined to divulge details of the move, it is understood that the communications were brief and set forth in general terms the purposes for which the powers are requested to send delegates to meet in Washington November 1.

The text may be made public later.

While the notes were in process of formulation the department is understood to have consulted with diplomatic representatives of the participating nations relative to the number of principal delegates each is to send to the conference.

It was indicated that officials here desire to make the number suggested in the invitation conform as nearly as possible to the consensus of opinion among the powers addressed, although the option here was that in the interest of facility the representative of each participant ought to be limited to one.

Later today Secretary Hughes conferred at length with President Harding and it was indicated afterwards that the draft of the invitations was virtually complete.

JACK PICKS GEORGES TO DEFEAT GIBBONS

Denver, Col., August 10.—Georges Carpenter was picked as winner over Tom Gibbons in the Gibbons-Carpenter bout to be held in New York by Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight pugilist, who spent several days in Denver yesterday.

Dempsey and his trainer, Teddy Hayes, are on their way to Los Angeles after a vacation of ten days spent in Antonio, Col., Dempsey's childhood home.

"Put your money on Carpenter, it's my advice," Dempsey told friends who met him at his hotel. "Carpenter is the best in the world for his weight."

The champion said his trip to New York to confer with Kearns had been postponed.

The women of Java are being taught western theories of equality with men at his hotel. "Carpenter movement is necessarily slow, but many believe in its ultimate success."

Dallas Wins Again.

Dallas, Ga., August 10.—(Special.) Dallas had little trouble in lowering the high-flying Powder Springs birds Tuesday 11 to 5. Watson stood the bombardment for five innings, giving away for "Reserve" Turner. Turner likewise went up, allowing five runs, five hits and two homers.

Hudson was in fine form and pitched shutout ball after the second inning. Better, Hudson and Croker. Powder Springs, Watson, Turner and McCarty.

HELP IS PLEDGED IN SAFETY WORK

Immediately after they had pledged their unqualified cooperation to the Junior Chamber of Commerce in that organization's efforts to curb reckless driving and to institute a permanent "Safety First" campaign, Chief of Police Beavers and Recorder George H. Johnson Wednesday engaged in an open warfare against speeding and violation of traffic laws.

The recorder made his position when he fined two negroes $25 each and revoked their driving licenses for a period of thirty days upon conviction of reckless driving and violation of traffic laws.

Chief Beavers and Recorder Johnson Wednesday engaged in an open warfare against speeding and violation of traffic laws.

The heads of the police department and recorder's court entered more actively in the campaign against carelessness following a visit of inspection to police headquarters Wednesday by the safety committee of the Junior Chamber. They told the young men who called upon the department that they are willing and eager to put a stop to the large number of accidents caused by reckless drivers.

On the other hand, Judge Johnson declared that many cases made against traffic law violators have come into his court through no fault of his own.

System Is Wrong.

The conclusion reached by the committee was that the spirit of law enforcement was all right, but that the system was wrong somewhere, especially in view of the further belief that this condition has been supervising the work of "No Accidents" is, Henry Robinson, Henry Grady, William A. Parker, Jr., Agnew Field and Walter Dillard, Jr.

"We also discovered some interesting figures in our trip to the police station," said Mr. LeCraw. "During the past seven months, only 1275 arrests have been made for violations of traffic laws, and this with a force of 325 policemen. It is an average of about six arrests per policeman per month. This is a very low figure, especially when we consider the fact that there are 77 arrests for speeding, 72 arrests for reckless driving and 127 arrests for other violations—bright lights, no lights, illegal parking and the like."

Many Accidents.

Mr. LeCraw said that the recent high number of accidents, that which killed J. Douglas Edgar, the internationally famous golfer, and that which resulted in the death of J. R. Tanner of Norman Park, Ga., as well as a number of serious accidents, had awakened the Junior Chamber to the realization that the situation did not merely require the education of the public, but that the cause lay deeper. No criticism of the police department or the recorder's court was offered, but the statement was made that a closer co-ordination between the two seemed advisable for better efficiency for the department as a whole.

The Junior Chamber delegation also appeared before the evening watch at the roll call at 4 o'clock. They urged these men to give them every assistance in their campaign and were cordially received. The policemen said that they were glad to do everything in their power and were glad to be able to believe that part of the public at least, was behind them in their work.

"The public, also, has got to aid in this work," said Mr. LeCraw. "The recorder told us that the ordinance against Jay-walking is practically ignored. There are hundreds of instances hourly of personal carelessness of pedestrians which could easily result in fatal accidents."

"With the co-operation promised us by Chief Beavers and Recorder Johnson, as well as the police force, and with the added sentiment of the public—which is growing tired of the condition existing—we believe that Atlanta can bring down the toll of accidents which result from carelessness."

To prevent women's hats being blown away while the owners are motoring clips have been invented to hold them in place.

Former Leader Of Greek Church To Arrive Friday

Effort Will Be Made to Reconcile Differences Between Local Factions.

Meletios, metropolitan of the Greek Church of Athens, Greece, until recently deposed by King Constantine on his successful coup d'etat, and still acknowledged as the head of the orthodox Greek church of America by the majority of American communicants, accompanied by Alexander, bishop of Rodostol, the first canonical bishop ever sent to America by the holy synod of Athens, will arrive in Atlanta Friday morning and endeavor to reconcile the opposing factions of the local Greek church.

The differences among Atlanta Greeks as to who is the lawful metropolitan of Athens reached an intensity recently and a hearing of the two factions will be held on August 16 before Judge George L. Bell.

Theoetelos was metropolitan of Athens during the period of King Constantine's exile. Venizelos was in all but name, King of Greece. Theoetelos excommunicated Venizelos, and the holy synod of Greece adhered to the excommunication. Then Meletios was appointed his successor. King Constantine, on returning to Athens, deposed Meletios and appointed Venizelos as metropolitan of Athens and the excommunicated Theoetelos as metropolitan of Rodostol.

As a result, the kindred orthodox Greek churches, here and abroad, are divided into two factions as to which of the two men is the lawful metropolitan of Athens and the excommunicated Theoetelos.

Supporters of Meletios are led and encouraged by the Patriarchate of Constantinople, while the supporters of Theoetelos are backed by the present government of Greece.

According to S. G. Georgiades of Atlanta, "The Atlanta Greek church is divided into two factions, the majority, adhering to the autocratic or Constantinian side, while a minority of the trustees and a majority of the church members are democratic and adhere to the synod, elected by the high board of bishops and recognized by ecumenics."

Try to Depose King.

"An attempt has been made by the majority of the trustees of the Atlanta church to supplant Papadopoulos, the three-year priest of the Greek church in Atlanta, and place in his stead a priest to be appointed by the synod controlled by King Constantine, which violates the by-laws of the church. This is alleged to have been done by the trustees of Fulton county. The suit involves, first, the deposition of the by-laws of the church in Atlanta, and second, who are the authorized persons to depose the existing priest, and those now claimed to exist under the authority of King Constantine."

It is contended by the plaintiffs that the democratic side, the majority of the church, who are also Venizelists, that the principle of freedom and democracy of the church should be recognized; and that the royalists, dominated by King Constantine, should not control. It is democracy against autocracy and the established authorities of the church against the usurpations of a king. The plaintiffs of the case are represented by Watkins, Russell & Asch, while the defendants are represented by R. B. Blackburn and Colquitt & Conyers.

Girls With Bobbed Hair Are Not Wanted In Chicago Business

Chicago, August 10.—The girl with bobbed hair may be irresistible and delightfully boyish in the ballroom or at the beach, but in business?

Well, in Chicago she just might as well wait for the long curls to grow back on her pate.

She is undignified, according to the opinion of the business community here. And, they say, women in business should not be undignified. They are following the lead of Marshall Field and company in discharging or not employing bobbed haired girls.

"When we employ girls nowadays, we look them over very carefully," said an official of Carson, Pirie Scott and company. "If their hair is bobbed and is unbecomingly short and undignified we just don't employ them."

COL. JOHN MARTIN, GRAY HERO, DIES

Ocala, Fla., August 10.—Colonel John Marshall Martin, the last surviving member of the congress of the Confederate States of America, died at his home here early tonight after an illness of several months.

Colonel Martin had been confined to his bed since he sustained a fall several months ago while assisting in the construction of the Ocala, Fla., bridge.

COLONEL JOHN M. MARTIN.

Colonel Martin was born in Hampton county, South Carolina, in 1832. He was a graduate of the Citadel at Charleston and served in the military service of the Confederate States of America. He was a member of the Confederate Congress and served as a member of the United States House of Representatives. He was a prominent figure in the Reconstruction era and was known for his leadership and military skills.

Colonel Martin was married to Mrs. Sallie Martin, surviving him. He is also survived by three sons and three daughters. His funeral will be held at a later date.

MAJORITY REPORT GIVES HIGH PRAISE

Memphis, Tenn., August 10.—Police and sheriff's deputies of half a dozen Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee counties were searching tonight for members of a band of robbers who attempted to rob an employee of the Ford Motor company of pay roll funds amounting to $3,500—thwarted by the quick wit of Edward H. Hensley, the clerk in charge of the money—resulted in the death of three policemen and the capture of five other boys, while the Memphis police comb the city for men suspected of implication in the hold-up, one of the most spectacular ever attempted here.

Several men were brought to police headquarters early tonight for questioning. The police declined to say, however, as to whether any definite information had been obtained as to the identity of the men who took part in the hold-up, which occurred at the entrance to the assembling plant of the company on Union avenue in a busy industrial section, shortly before noon.

Those arrested included Vincent Luciani, a police lieutenant; Howard L. Gamble, an employee of the Ford company, deputized as a special officer, and Polk A. Carraway, a patrolman. Carraway and Gamble were shot.

vious character who could not account for his whereabouts during the day is being questioned by the police. Police officials say tonight that they have gained some information regarding the identity of the bandits who held up the car but refuse to state whether they believe any of the men held were directly connected with the hold-up and the shooting of the officers.

The police department has offered a reward of $1,000 for the capture of the bandits and other rewards will probably be offered tomorrow, it is stated.

FLAMES DESTROY CAR IN ACCIDENT NEAR JONESBORO

R. H. Harrison's car was destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when it turned turtle two miles north of Jonesboro. Mr. Harrison, who operates the Buckle head filling station on the road from Atlanta to Jonesboro and had two watermelons in the front part of the car at his feet. They rolled against his feet at a narrow part of the road, and when he lost control of the car it went over the road embankment. The heat of the engine set the gasoline on fire and before anything could be done the car was lost. Neither Mr. Harrison nor a reward of $1,000 for the capture of the bandits and other rewards will probably be offered tomorrow, it is stated.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.
The conviction and sentence of a city detective changed with the change of the city-wide movement started several months ago to drive Atlanta from the clutches of criminal debauchery.

The reports and recommendations of three consecutive grand juries have to all intents and purposes been disregarded and nullified
by council.

The report and recommendations of a special investigating committee of council itself, absolutely in line with and substantiating the grand jury findings, has virtually been cast into the discard
by council.

The police board, so far as it can do so, has completed the job.
But at least one trial jury and one trial judge have done their duty.

The grand juries and councilman committee all declared the convicted detective to be in league with crime.

Council subsequently gave him a clean bill, as, in effect, did the police board.

But he was tried and found guilty by a jury of his peers—so flagrantly guilty that the trial judge imposed upon him the extreme penalty allowed by law!

The same grand juries and council committee that charged this one with corruption also declared that others within the police-detective department are equally as guilty as he, and that complete reorganization and purging of the police system is necessary before clean government, freedom from organized crime and adequate protection for the lives and morals of Atlanta can be assured.

Council and the board of police commissioners have, in effect, declared that to be all bosh.

But the main part of the work recommended by the bodies that have investigated conditions must be done, not by the courts, but by the people of Atlanta at the ballot box!

The paramount question before the people in the current municipal primary campaign is this:

Are you satisfied with conditions under which organized gamblers and bunco men and bootleggers and blind tigers have been permitted to prey upon the public —or are you in favor of fundamental changes that three grand juries and a committee of council have flatly declared are necessary?

Council—many of whose members are running for re-election—has said that conditions are all right as they are, that no change in the existing system is desirable.

What do you—your mothers and fathers of Atlanta—say?

The police board, by its action last Tuesday night, in effect put itself on record as championing the cause of the bunco and criminal element and as being in favor of letting things run along.

What do you, mothers and fathers of Atlanta, who vote—what do you say?

You have a right to say what you think; and you have a right to get the sort of government you want.

may go to the polls and vote intelligently and with open eyes.
It is as simple and as easy as falling off the proverbial log.

GO TO IT!

Following the series of traffic accidents that featured the opening of "No-Accident Week," and which culminated in the killing of a well-known citizen, the chief of police announced that "speeding in Atlanta must stop if I have to put every policeman in town on the thoroughfares and boulevards."
Right! Go to it!

The chief says that "the speed limits, which police will (from now on) rigidly enforce, are twelve miles an hour within the inner fire limits and parks and twenty miles an hour outside of them;"
and that "all vehicles and street cars are required to slow to half speed when crossing 'heavy traffic streets' and when in school zones."

According to the news story,
"police said these latter regulations were being uniformly ignored."

Why?
What is the police department
for, if not to enforce the law?

Many a life will be saved if the traffic laws are enforced.

Strength to the arm of the chief
in this determination!

PIT GAMBLING TO END.
The Capper-Tincher bill as a law will furnish an interesting experiment that should settle for all time an economic controversy that is as old as the speculative exchanges.

This bill is designed to prevent so-called gambling in grain—in other words, to prohibit speculation in the grain market as it is now being practiced in the pit, and as it has been practiced from time immemorial.

As the grain pit is now conducted, a speculator may today "buy" and "sell" wheat, for example, that does not exist and that may never exist—"futures," they call it on the exchange.

He may wire his order for so many bushels of wheat ostensibly to be delivered next May, for instance, or a year from now. Then tomorrow, if the price of that fictitious "wheat" goes up, and he thinks it is going no higher, he may "sell," and pocket the profit represented by the difference between his buying and his selling prices.

There may be, say 20,000,000 bushels of wheat listed on the exchange; but that fact does not prevent the "buying" and "selling" of, say, 50,000,000 bushels, or 30,000,000 bushels more than really exists— all purely fictitious "wheat." And many of the buyers and sellers of it perhaps never saw and never expect to see a bushel of wheat in their lives.

Ever since the first grain exchange was established there have been two distinct schools of thought regarding that sort of speculation.

One has maintained persistently that it bolstered and stimulated the market, and had the effect of stiffening and keeping up the prices of actual grain; the other,
that its effect was exactly the opposite, its tendency being to depress the market and keep prices below what they would naturally be if governed exclusively by the law of supply and demand.

Each school of thought has been, and is, as conscientious and sincere as the other.

From the first the farmers as a class have opposed the pit and grain speculation, especially the practice of gambling in "futures."
Opposing groups have as steadfastly supported that principle.

For years this controversy has gone on; and repeatedly efforts have been made to abolish grain speculation by federal law.

Now, it seems, we are about to try the experiment of legislating the wheat pit out of existence, the senate having passed the Capper-Tincher bill to that end. The house having already passed the bill only the approval of the president is necessary to make it law.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON

The Last Round.
Perhaps they'll say,
When we all highly
open
the gate for us
in the sky—
"How do you do?"
An' welcome, too!
But how on earth
Did you all pull through?"

For they know that the road
is wide an' rough,
The joy but little,
An' trouble enough,
An' you'd think they'd say—
In that final day:
"The wonder is
That you kept the way!"

An' maybe then,
When the heights we win,
They'll feel like tellin' us:
"Walk right in,
Your failings too,
Didn't scape our view,
But you sure had a hard time
Pullin' through!"

This sonnet with the above title, and its human heart-interest, is by Louise Townsend Nichol, and it appears in the August number of Miss Harriet Monroe's Chicago magazine, Poetry.

"We knew a timeless place beside
three trees,
Where lights across an arching
bridge were set;
And, dark against the sky, was flung a frieze
Of human joy in shifting silhouettes.
Figures of children—swift, and lovers—slow.
Made us a parent as they crossed
the hill.
We called it "being dead," and watched them go.
Remembering when we were living still.
Now you have died, and found those timeless nights;
Ours was a dream which you have made come true.
Three trees are there, a hill, a bridge of lights:
I know, I know—I have been dead
with you!
I shall put off my grief, my sick
despair,
Since only you is silhouetted there."
—Louise Townsend Nichol.

Calling Them to Time.
Our friend, "Uncle John," of the Excelsior Springs Standard, lines up the poets and reads the riot act to them, as follows:
"I don't admire the poet that inflates his mushy lines with folde-rol, or puppy-love, or verbal monster-shines—I can't digest a vision that's a million miles from here, nor swallow vague distractions where the meanin' isn't clear.
"Can something intangible console a battered brain? Or fool imagination counteract a killin' pain? If I was fairly starvin' for a dish of bread an'
meat, would you set me
a course of fantasies to eat?"
"But—that's the daily menu—the highbrow chaps—of course, they mount us on a rainbow when we holler for a horse! They hand us speculation, when it's dividends we want!" they seem to bark the loudest when they've got a critic tired.

"The poem—name as sausage—should be molded into pats—with plenty of sage an' pepper, an'
the right per cent of fats—an'
when you're ready, proper, to a crisp, delicious brown, you can raise the delicious winder—and the smell will charm the town."

The old-time lessons
Don't hit the new-time right:
While you're "waitin' for the wagon!"
It's got out o' sight!
While you're sayin' your good mornin'!

The world's made out to night;
It's hurry an' worry.
An' everybody to roam
To sift the bright gold from the dust
An' grab the honey-comb!
But it's mighty good for all folks
That the same old Love's at home!

One With Us.

York is alleged to be in strained financial circumstances," George Bulley makes this "Early Mornin' Observation": "He is now a full-fledged member of the numerically greatest democracy that ever existed
in this country."

Testimony given at the inquest Wednesday over the body of J. Douglas Edgar, noted golf professional of the Druid Hills club, who met death on West Peachtree street Monday night, apparently from being struck by an automobile, introduced an element of doubt as to the manner in which the mysterious wound in the left leg, which is said to have caused Mr. Edgar's death, was inflicted.

The inquest was held at the H. M. Patterson & Sons undertaking rooms Wednesday morning. A continuance of the inquest, which was to have taken place at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, was postponed until Thursday afternoon at the same time. The continuance was requested by the coroner's jury, which, after a two-hour session Wednesday morning, was unable to render a decision as to how Mr. Edgar met his death, and asked to hear further testimony.

According to persons who examined the body shortly after the accident at midnight Monday, the wound could hardly have been made by an automobile unless it had a broken fender or an unusually sharp object on the front.

Dr. Noble Testifies.
Dr. George Noble testified that the wound could have been caused by a stab from a dull knife or by a sharp object on the front of the automobile. The injury that, in his opinion caused death, was a cut about six inches above the knee, one-half inch in length and about three inches in depth, which severed the femoral artery and caused death in a short time from hemorrhage.

"The wound appears to have been made by a somewhat blunt rather than a sharp-pointed instrument," said Dr. Noble. "It must have been driven with great force."

"In your opinion could these injuries have resulted from the impact of an automobile running at high speed?" asked Coroner Paul Donahoe.

"I think so," replied Dr. Noble. Other indications pointed to the probability of an automobile having struck Edgar.

Lord Willard, City Editor of The Constitution, who, with Paul Warwick and Comer Kowell, reporters in The Constitution, was the first to find Mr. Edgar Monday night, was the first witness.

Saw Man on Street.

He testified that he saw a man lying in the street near the curb as he was riding home from work about midnight. He said the other two did not see the body, but after driving by, turning at the next corner and came back. Accompanied by the crew of a street car passing at the time, he went to the body and discovering that the man was still breathing, called the Grady ambulance, which arrived in about five minutes. In the meantime the victim was still alive.

L. L. Shivers, who took Mr. Edgar home late at night, testified that he had played with him at Brookhaven Monday afternoon and about 7 o'clock had taken him to the Shivers' home at 75 Springdale road for dinner. About 10:30 o'clock he had started to take the golfer home in his car.

He said that they reached the home at 255 West Peachtree street shortly after that they had talked a moment before he left to drive on West Peachtree to the house and so home. He said that he did not see or hear any other car in the vicinity, and that the victim appeared to be perfectly normal in every way when he left him.

Miss Warren on Stand.
Miss L. S. Warren, who first called the police, testified that she was awakened by a loud crash near the house. Following this she heard a groan. Going to the window she saw the body of a man lying near the curb in the street in front of the house.

"I also heard a motor car," said Miss Warren. "It was running rapidly and from the sound it seemed to be a high powered car. It seemed to be going out West Peachtree street."

The last witness to be called was Tom Wilson, assistant professional at Druid Hills who lived at the same place. His testimony brought out the hitherto unknown fact that the car seemed to have stopped momentarily after the accident and then gone on.

"At about 12:15 o'clock Tuesday morning," said Wilson, "I got out of bed to get a drink of water. As I was getting back in bed I heard a motor car drive up in front of the house and stop. I imagine it was the car in which Mr. Edgar returned. A few minutes later I can't say just how long I heard a car coming at high speed, judging by the exhaust. Then I heard a word of thud and the car stopped. Then it started off again. I paid no attention to it until a few minutes later somebody came into the house and asked to use the telephone, saying there was a man hurt. I jumped out of bed, put on an overcoat and ran down to the street. I recognized Douglas at once. He was unconscious."

The victim is to be buried here, funeral services being held Thursday from Patterson's chapel. The detective department of the city police held for a time Tuesday afternoon, and closely questioned a young man living at Y. M. C. A., whose motor car was found on Hemphill avenue, half a mile from the scene of the tragedy. The car had been reported as stolen. This was verified by a member of the police force who had seen it standing on Hemphill avenue some time before midnight.

The coroner's jury was composed of Charles H. Girardeau, foreman; C. E. Dollar, J. F. Stern, T. C. McGinnis, W. F. Reeves and R. B. Lauren.

Twin Vegetable Contest Grows Warmer; Quintuple Ear of Corn Is Now Leading

Here they are. Look them over. Latest entrants in the freak vegetable contest. At left the giant twin muskmelon; next is the quintuple ear of corn, which is in the lead in point of number of plants growing on one stem. Upper right, the twin red pepper, and lower right the twin pecan. After looking these freaks of the vegetable kingdom over, one wonders what will happen next.

Like the big act in the old-time circus, the crowning feature of the freak vegetable contest is entered today, this being no more or less than five ears of corn growing from one cob—or to speak technically a quintuple ear of corn. It was sent to The Constitution by L. H. Hannon, of Atco, Barrow county. It was grown by Mr. Hannon's father, Z. F. Hannon, on his farm near Cartersville.

The five-ear corn is shown in the picture together with the twin pepper and the twin pecan. There is always some doubting Thomas around to say, "It's all a fake," so to satisfy this type of gentry and coming together they naturally have formed an association with each other like a big brother and a little brother. The big cantaloupe stands protectively over the little double pecan like a big brother holding the hand of the little brother as they watch the circus parade go by.

The muskmelon twin proved to be the finest specimen yet sent in. It was raised by H. T. Etheridge, of Milton county. Mr. Etheridge said muskmelons usually grow two feet apart on the vine. He found the double muskmelon growing at the place where a single melon should have grown. The pecan was sent in by the Paper Shell Pecan Growers' association of Putney, Dougherty county.

List of Entries.
The muskmelon wears a sober expression which is a mighty hard thing to wear after you've been in the mountains of north Georgia as long as it has. It is large and yellow and has an aroma that makes you want to slash its throat and eat it.

The little double pecan is like a freshman at the state college—still green. It reminds you of a throwing "to ace" in a crap game. Superstitious people could use it in place of a buckeye to keep hard luck away—if there's any more more hard luck left to keep away.

The entries Wednesday now put Gwinnett county in the league with the twin watermelon; Barrow with the twin cucumber; Greene with the twin squash; Spalding with the small twin cantaloupe; Barrow with the triple squash; Milton with the large twin cantaloupe, and Dougherty with the twin pecan; Barrow with the five-ear corn. Do you think the twin pepper and Banks with the twin egg?

Now, then—what next?

Birth Weight Record Broken at Ingleside By Mrs. Gully's Baby
All weight records for new-born babies were broken Saturday when a 15-pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Gully, of Ingleside, Ga. Dr. C. L. Allison, of Scotland, who attended the birth, stated that the average weight at birth was from six to eight pounds, and added that he never heard of a baby weighing 15 pounds at birth. His opinion was confirmed by prominent Atlanta physicians. Mrs. Gully said the baby was reported to be doing very well Wednesday.

"MEDICINE" LIQUOR GETS NEGRO IN BAD
Stating that he "thought he was allowed to have a little liquor in the house for medicine," James Hall, negro, arrested with Ella Burns, negro, on charge of disorderly conduct, is being held at the police station under a bond of $2,000, charged with violating the state prohibition law. Officers Whitdon and Whitley, who made the arrests, said they found six 1-gallon cans of whiskey under a sack in the corner of a room at 254 Fort street.

DATE OF NEW TRIAL SET IN PAYNE CASE

Immediately following the sentencing of W. L. Payne, former city detective, to pay a fine of $1,000, serve 12 months on the chain gang and six months in jail, by Judge John D. Humphries Wednesday morning in the criminal division of the superior court, H. A. Allen, counsel for the defendant, filed a motion for a new trial, which was set for hearing August 27.

Payne was convicted by a jury Sunday on charges of accepting money from Nat McWhorter, negro bootlegger, after the jury had been out 24 hours. In sentencing Payne, Judge Humphries stated that it was a serious offense upon which he had been convicted, and the court could not treat it lightly.

However, he suspended the sentence of six months in jail, provided Payne paid his fine before he served his chain-gang term. Payne resigned from the police force Tuesday.

Pending hearing on a motion for new trial, the court placed Payne under bond of $2,000. Attorney Allen stated that he will have the record in the case ready by August 27, with all assignments of error, including the overruling of two motions to quash Payne's case. Just before passing sentence,

Judge Humphries asked Payne if he had anything to say.
"Merely this, your honor," replied the former detective. "There is not a single man within the sound of my voice who believes, deep down in his heart, that I am guilty."

Humphries' Reply.
"The court is forced to take the position that you are, Mr. Payne," said Judge Humphries. "As a matter of law, while before your trial the law presumed you innocent, since your conviction, it presumes you guilty, and that is the way I will have a look at the case. I will say this much for you: You had able counsel. No man was ever better represented than your lawyer represented you. But this is no small thing. If you did what the jury said you did, you were guilty of practices the most subversive of the ends of justice."

Camp Finds Out Georgia Is Broke; Then Wins Point

Representative Camp, of Campbell county, has had an inkling that the state is hard up financially ever since he has been in the legislature but he did not know how all-fired broke the state really is until he had one of his bills vetoed Wednesday by the governor.

The bill provided that the fees paid jurors in justice courts should be increased from $1.25 to $2.50. The governor vetoed the bill on the ground that the financial depression and general condition of the state does not warrant its passage at this time.

Representative Camp stated that the $1.25 does not go to a single juror but it given to the five jurors constituting a jury in a justice's court. This makes 62 cents each for their service and he wanted to increase it to 50 cents each but the stern veto of the governor prevented.

Corrupt Ring Scored.

"To the corrupt ring dominating Sangamon county justice is political blackmail," declared the governor in a formal statement. "The governor of Illinois has been falsely indicted and falsely arrested holding in utter disregard the constitution and laws of this state."

Work of Malicious Enemies.

"Notwithstanding pretensions of decency, my enemies maliciously staged a spectacular arrest under circumstances intended to humiliate me and to disgrace the people of my state. Even though the sheriff stated he had no thought that I would ever be arrested, less the capitol of the state was besieged and surrounded by an army of denizens drawn from the slums of the city of Springfield, and when I was finally arrested I was peremptorily refused to examine or accept a bond without the presence of the attorney and forcibly took me from the executive mansion and paraded me through a mob of lawless hooligans assembled to jeer and insult the governor."

"In view of the great issue of public policy involved in this disgraceful and unprecedented proceeding, the facts in this controversy must be brought to light without delay. My innocence is known to me. The people all over this state must know it."

WHY DO YOU CODDLE CORNS?

A Simple Touch Can End Them and At Once

Why pare a corn and keep it? Why pad it and let it remain? Or why treat it in old ways, harsh, crude and uncertain? Millions have found a new way. It is Blue-jay—the plaster or the liquid. A touch applies it, and the pain stops instantly. Then the whole corn quickly loosens and comes out. The way is gentle, scientific, sure. A famous expert evolved it. A world-famed surgical dressing house produces it.

In it freezing thousands of people—why not you? Try it on one corn and you will always let it end yours. Start tonight.

Short Selling in Stocks Brings Real Liquidation

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, August 10.—There was some short selling of stocks today and some real liquidation. The rails sold off from a half point to a point. Crucible, Bethlehem, Republic declined a point. B. W. H. Harvester and Corn Products were down 1 1/2 points. General Electric, Sears-Roebuck, International Paper 2; Studebaker was down over 3 1/2, but 1/2 of that was in the dividend that just came off; Mexican Petroleum was down 4 points. Steel held firm on what appeared to be support. Sugar made a new low record, declining 3 points on the announcement that a dividend had been passed.

There was very heavy trading in sugar on the decline. Wall Street believed that the dividend would be reduced at the worst. In fact, it was given out after the meeting, President Babst stated that since the crisis arose in the sugar industry a year ago his company had been without adequate earnings from the refining of sugar. He said that income from investments had also declined; that losses had to be taken by writing down inventories and in connection with broken contracts. He said that the company had been in a position to pay a dividend, but the situation the directors had decided that a conservative policy should be adopted in the matter of declaring dividends. The regular dividend will be paid on the preferred shares. This is the first time in the history of the company that dividends have been passed.

Steel Corporation Orders. Around noon the Steel corporation published its unfilled order statement as of July 31. The figures were 4,890,000 tons compared with 5,117,000 at the end of June and with 11,118,000 at the end of July last year, which was the high point for 1920. The decline from this June was only 287,000 tons, whereas Wall Street had estimated a loss of from 350,000 to 400,000 tons.

Today's iron age weekly report on conditions in the iron and steel industry was colorless. It was stated in a half-hearted way that improvement had taken place during the past two weeks. The general feeling here is that the bottom has been reached, but that there will be improvement with further price-cutting.

It is understood from reliable sources that the doctors believe that H. P. Davidson has a tumor at the base of the brain. His health has been falling since before the war. For the past year he has been a sick man, losing ground steadily. Davidson, before he began to lose his health, was considered by the best disinterested judges as far and away the ablest of our financial leaders. However, he began to show signs of active business, even before he took up his Red Cross war work.

Career of H. P. Davidson. Davidson, who is now only 56, started out in life as a country school teacher. He started his banking career as a minor clerk and worked his way up to paying teller here in New York, attracting attention by the way he handled a crazy man who came up to his window, pulled out a gun and demanded $100,000. Instead of getting frightened, Davidson smiled, and the man's voice asked: "How do you want that $100,000, in dimes?" He immediately began to count out a lot of dimes. But in the meantime his loud inquiry about the $100,000 in dimes made a number of his associates look up, sized up the situation and slip up behind the crazy man.

That was absolutely characteristic of the short cut Davidson could take to the heart of a situation. And when he got there he always did something. He got to the crazy man in the easiest way, he was in him to have set his square jaw and piercing gray eyes, climbed through the window and thrown the man out in the car tracks in the middle of the street. Davidson is small, but square-shouldered and game to the core.

E. C. Converse, who died only a few months ago, was generally given the credit of boosting Davidson along. He, with T. W. Lamont and a number of others, is known as "one of the Converse boys." However, those who know say that D. G. Reid was the first to find out that all that was necessary in the case of Davidson was to give him something that looked like half a chance and he would do the rest. From the Astor Trust company Davidson went to the Liberty National, then to the First National as vice president, and from there to a partnership in the Morgan firm. It was the elder Morgan who took him in after watching him work during the 1907 panic days.

CONGRESS GIVEN SPEED-UP ORDERS

Washington, August 10.—Speeding up orders were given congress late today under an agreement between President Harding and republican leaders for a thirty-day adjournment of both houses and senate about August 20, providing that in the meantime the agricultural credits measure is enacted and the house passes the tax revision bill.

Under the tentative plan, the railroad debt funding, the allied debt refunding and other bills will go over until September. Enactment of several important measures before the recess date, however, is contemplated.

The recess and legislative program was arranged more definitely by president at a conference today with Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, republican leader, and Senator Curtis, of Kansas, republican leader, after the president's discussion yesterday with house leaders.

Representatives by Senator Lodge and Curtis that tariff, tax and railroad funding legislation actually would be expedited by the proposed recess were said to have figured largely in the president's decision to take a thirty-day vacation. The senators said that the senate finance committee had been interrupted during the recess period, could make much greater speed on the tariff and tax bills.

The speeding up process, it was pointed out, rests with the house, where the tax and agricultural credits bills are pending. The senate has before it only minor bills and the house has a large number of bills pending.

Before the recess, leaders expect to complete the passage of the Capner-Tincher grain anti-rabbling bill, the shipping board's deficiency appropriation bill and the Williams-Campbell anti-beer measure. The new republican bill to extend the Fordney emergency law until the permanent bill is enacted, it was indicated, probably will go over until the recess.

In the effort to get their vacation, the house tomorrow will take up the shipping board deficiency bill and Friday the agricultural credits measure passed recently by the senate. Both are scheduled for passage before the week-end leaving the shipping bill in the direct mail, which is to be introduced Monday and then up for debate Wednesday.

Favorable Report

Returned on Bill To Aid West Point

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR., Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, August 10.—(By Constitution Bureau.) The bill for the relief of the City of West Point, Ga., of the claims of the war veterans, which was reported by the committee on the war claims, passed by the house in March, 1920, after the severe criticism of December, 1919, has been favorably reported by the senate committee on claims.

The bill has already passed the house, having been introduced by Representative W. C. Wright, of the Fourth district. The amount of $2,705,777 covering the transportation of material for both bridges, must be paid by the city. The claims committee took the view that the city should not be made to pay the loss of material in the first bridge as its destruction by a cyclone after the first disaster was an act of God.

Early passage in the senate is expected when the bill will go to the president for approval.

Chauffeur Held In Killing Case Denied Release

Orlando, Fla., August 10.—D. H. Patterson, a chauffeur held in connection with the killing of F. A. Miltmore, in a local hotel here August 1, was denied release on habeas corpus proceedings and ordered held for the December term of the circuit court after a hearing before County Judge Smith, begun yesterday and concluded today. Bond was fixed at $5,000, which had not been furnished at a late hour tonight.

Patterson is charged with being accessory before the fact, and Miss Lena Clarke, who is alleged to have confessed to theft of $32,000 postal funds as postmistress at West Palm Beach, is held on a charge of murder. Patterson brought the woman to this city from West Palm Beach, according to testimony at his hearing, when she eluded the surveillance of postal inspectors investigating her accounts and later carried the messages which summoned Miltmore to her hotel room, where his body was found several hours later. Patterson claimed he received $100 for his services and knew nothing of Miltmore's death. Miss Clarke is alleged to have written statements that Patterson knew nothing of the affair. State's Attorney Jones was in possession of the results of an analysis made of Miltmore's viscera by chemists at the university laboratory at Gainesville, but would not divulge whether any evidence of a drug, said to have been handled by one of the women, had been found.

Officials have announced that the result of this analysis was expected to shed considerable light as to what happened in the woman's room before Miltmore's death. The woman, from her cell in the Orange county jail, continued to write poems and statements for various newspapers. She took exception to the manner in which her case has been handled by one paper and denied that she was a devotee of the bull. She said she was spiritual but not a spiritualist and dealt at some length on the subject.

FOSTER L. HUNTER MAY ENTER RACE AGAINST GARNER

Foster L. Hunter, prominent Atlanta business man, may enter the race for alderman from the fifth ward in opposition to E. R. Garner, it was learned Wednesday. Friends of Mr. Hunter have urged him to make the race and he has announced his decision Thursday.

Mr. Hunter is connected with firm of May and Cowdree and has lived in the fifth ward for thirty years. He was elected to the city council last year against Councilman Allen Couch, but withdrew from the contest five days before the election on account of a death in his family.

Friends of Mr. Hunter are confident that he will make a formidable candidate and are awaiting with interest his decision, which will be announced Thursday.
